Jason Gobeil

"When we say those words, to all my relations, we really don't just mean necessarily those people sitting around this table, but all those people that we serve, especially those that chose to elect us as those voices at this table. So I am truly blessed to be here, and to introduce myself as Blue Sky, that is my traditional spirit name, is one we don't necessarily get too often a chance to do, especially at a table like this. Education is truly important, and I am so proud to be sitting at this table with such great allies and such great leaders in our community. So Miigwetch. Thank you so much."

This summer the Federal Government passed Bill C-5, creating the National Day for Truth and Reconciliation, to be observed on September 30th, in response to the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada Call to Action number 80. The Province of Manitoba and the Department of Education have confirmed that September 30th will be added as a day of observance and that all public schools will be closed.

Since 2017, the Government of Manitoba has formally recognized September 30th as Orange Shirt Day in honour and remembrance of residential school Survivors, to educate students, and reflect on the detrimental impacts
